ANNOUNCEMENT

Following the success of the first project, Italian Canadians as Enemy Aliens: Memories of WWII (permanent exhibit, academic book, and digital archives/website), Columbus Centre is pleased to announce that it will once again work with the Community Historical Recognition Program (CHRP), Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC). The new project will feature the cross-collaboration of all CHRP-funded projects focused on the Second World War internment of Italian Canadians.

The specific products to be produced are:

1. A new travelling exhibit that will feature research material from all CHRP-funded projects on the Italian Canadian internment experience. This exhibit will travel nationwide to different host venues ranging from museums and art galleries to community centers and educational hubs.
2. An expansion of the digital archive/collection currently available at www.ItalianCanadianWW2.ca. The project aims to include research materials produced by the other CHRP-funded projects to the existing site, which already features the most comprehensive material on this subject. The inclusion of other research work will add to this objective, with the end result producing a central go-to resource on the subject.
